Tokala Tatum

Film Director/Writer

Tokala Tatum is a film director/writer with experience working on various film projects at all stages of production while fulfilling a diverse set of roles. Tokala is a strong-willed creative with a promising, potent and valuable vision.

EXPERIENCE

'War Angels: Ho'Nehe', Feature Film — Director/Writer/Producer

2022 - 2024

Hired by mountaineerwest.com to co-write, direct and produce an independently funded feature film with an estimated budget between $300,000 - $3 Million. Script/I.P currently being negotiated with a company within the AMPTP.

'Torn Apart', Feature Film — Director/Writer/Producer/Actor

2020 - 2022 (50,000 views on YouTube)

Independently funded action/thriller feature film bringing awareness to Missing, Murdered, Indigenous Women. In collaboration with the Muckleshoot Tribe and WA State Dept. of Transportation.

Watch Torn Apart | Prime Video (amazon.com)

Watch Torn Apart | Tubi (tubitv.com)

'Totem Bridge', Feature Documentary — Associate Producer/Field Production Specialist

2022

Producer traveling and outreaching throughout various communities within the Pacific Northwest (WA, OR, ID) on a 3-week Totem Journey, documenting the preservation and restoration of the salmon.

'They're Not Here', Feature Film — Writer/Director

2022 - Present

Writer/Director/Producer for a horror film based on Skinwalkers. Currently in development.

EDUCATION

University of Washington - Seattle

2018 - 2022

Bachelor's degree in Cinema and Media Studies

SKILLS

Writer, Director, Editor, Sound Design, Marketing, Photography, Lighting, Line Producer, Unit Production Manager, Community Liaison, Community Outreach

CHARACTERISTICS

Leader, Hard worker, goal-oriented, poised under pressure, communicator, reliable, equitable, easy to direct and instruct ttatumphoto@gmail.com

CONTACT

LinkedIn
Website
Instagram
Facebook